The Unimaginary Friend

Dan Santat

He was born on an island far away where imaginary friends were created. Here, they lived and played, each eagerly waiting to be imagined by a real child.

Every night he stood under the stars, hoping for his turn to be picked by a child and given a special name.

He waited for many nights.

But his turn never came.

His mind filled with thoughts of all the amazing things that were keeping his friend from imagining him.

So rather than waiting...

...he did the unimaginable.

He sailed through unknown waters
and faced many scary things.

But thinking about his friend gave him the courage to journey on...
